One day, Lucky Penny and Lucky John were exploring the forest when they came across a strange old man. The old man told them that he knew where the golden coin was hidden. He said that it was buried under a large oak tree at the top of a hill.

Lucky Penny and Lucky John were excited to hear this news. They thanked the old man and set off to find the oak tree. They climbed the hill and searched for the tree, but they couldn't find it.

They were about to give up when they saw a small glint of gold in the distance. They ran towards the glint and found the golden coin buried under the oak tree.

Lucky Penny and Lucky John were so happy to have finally found the golden coin. They had been searching for it for so long, and they never gave up hope. They learned a valuable lesson that day about the importance of perseverance.

Lucky Penny and Lucky John took the golden coin home and showed it to their parents. Their parents were very proud of them for never giving up on their dream. Lucky Penny and Lucky John knew that they would never forget their adventure in the forest, and they would always remember the lesson they learned about perseverance.

Moral of the story

The moral of the story is that it is important to never give up on your dreams. No matter how difficult things may seem, you should never give up. If you never give up, you will eventually achieve your goals.

Additional activities

Here are some additional activities that you can do to reinforce the moral of the story:

* Ask your students to write a story about a time when they never gave up on something. * Have your students create a poster or a comic strip about the importance of perseverance. * Lead a discussion with your students about the importance of never giving up.
